25X1 4. [ ] Talked with William Darden, CIA Subcommittee of Senate Armed Services, mentioning the Director's desire to meet with our Subcommittee each month and asked if he would look into setting a date for May. He indicated it would certainly be at least ten days to two weeks before anything could be done but would check this and advise.

25X1 5. [ ] Talked with Bob Smart, CIA Subcommittee of House Armed Services, about a Subcommittee meeting for this month and he was to advise. Subsequently, I called him again after learning that Mr. McCone had spoken with Mr. Vinson and there was general agreement on a meeting early next week. The Director had suggested Monday or Tuesday and these days were suggested to Smart. He will advise further.

25X1 7. [ ] [ ] telephoned to advise that the query from the bill on Overseas Regional Surveys, Inc. had come to the State Department from Carl Marcy (Senate Foreign Relations Committee). No action will be taken by the Agency at this time. 25X1

25X1 8. [ ] Left with Bill Cannon in the Bureau of the Budget a copy of the proposed letter for Mr. McCone to sign to Chairman Murray. I made it clear that Mr. McCone had not yet approved this letter but that I would like to have BOB views on the content. He will advise.

25X1 9. [ ] [ ] and John S. Warner met with a large group in Bureau of the Budget to consider the varying departments' views on S. 4261 which is an amendment to the Communications Act to permit reciprocity in the licensing of amateur radio operators. Defense had concurred in the legislation but added words to the effect that they would like assurance that this would not be an avenue for espionage. At the meeting their position became more clear when Defense indicated they realized there could be no legislative assurance 25X1

4. [redacted] Liaison Division, called concerning an inquiry he had received from Mr. Eaton, in Roger Hillsman's office in State Department. This concerns a question raised by Senator John Sparkman's office with the Department for the reason for the SECRET-NOFORN classification on documents produced in Hillsman's office. [redacted] indicated that Hillsman's people prepare these papers from CS reports under a USIB agreement permitting State to use this material if the classification is maintained. I suggested to [redacted] that he discuss this with the proper people in DD/P, but that I saw no reason why State couldn't explain to Senator Sparkman that these reports are based in part or in total on intelligence reports which are classified either because of their substance or because of their source, but that the thrust of these studies is contained in other unclassified materials on the subject. (Senator Sparkman's office apparently was concerned that this material was not being made public to the extent practicable.)

5. [redacted] met with Messrs. Missey and Salans, of the Legal Advisor's Office, and Messrs. Krausse, Ainsworth, and Spangler, of the China Desk in State Department, concerning the request received by the Department from Representative Charles S. Gubser (R., Calif.) concerning a possible claim of the trustees of the Frasier Company against the United States Government arising out of the confiscation of assets of the Frasier Company by the Chinese Peoples Republic. (See Journal of 4 May) The meeting developed little of interest to this Agency. State representatives will meet with Representative Gubser and suggest that if the trustees have a claim that it be presented for review and determination.

6. [redacted] Mr. Warner informed me by telephone on 7 May that on his Friday trip to Eglin Field he had talked to Congressmen Melvin Price and Frank Osmers of our House Armed Services Subcommittee. Warner was with them when the L-28 Heile Courier was demonstrated and mentioned to them that we had been instrumental in the development, testing and refinement of this plane and had demonstrated its capabilities as much as five years ago.

7. [redacted] Mr. Warner also said he talked to Senator Saltonstall about the letter from Chairman Cannon of the House Appropriations Committee and the Senator felt there would be no difficulty on this count insofar as the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee was concerned.
